

GERMAN WIRETAPPER'S HIDING PLACE

There is apparently no end to the ingenuity and cool audacity of the German spies at the front. In the present instance one had made his way into the British lines, attached a thin wire to a British field wire he wished to tap and led the wire into a hiding place he had burrowed out in the side of a haystack. He had disappeared when the hiding place was discovered.

Drawn by H. W. Koekkoek from a sketch by a British officer.

Copyrighted, 1914, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association by special arrangement with the Illustrated London News.